

Facts Concerning This Store.

The stocks placed before you here are vast beyond precedent—perfect beyond comparison. The prices are always as low as the least elsewhere—often much lower. The business proceeds upon solid ideas persistently followed. The advantages are in the regular every day service and not in exceptional statements. Toledo's buying public digests the FACTS more thoroughly with every passing day. Thus business flourishes and grows.

NEUHAUSEL BROTHERS

429-431-433 SUMMIT STREET, TOLEDO, OHIO.

The week commencing March 29th, will be one of the greatest musical events in the history of Cincinnati. The Metropolitan Opera Company of 350 members accompanied by the Theodore Thomas orchestra of 60 pieces will be the leading attraction at Music Hall while the lovers of comic opera will be entertained at the Grand Opera House by the Francis Wilson Opera Company. The Grand Opera at the Music Hall, as well as the comic opera at the Grand Opera House, and the other vaudeville and standard attractions at the popular theaters, enabling the people for an investment of a very few dollars to enjoy Grand Opera, rendered by the same people, for whom New Yorkers paid as high as $50.00 a seat in the Metropolitan Opera House, New York City.

Recognizing the importance of this occasion and the desire of the people to see these great entertainments, which only occur once in a great many years, the C. H. & D. will put in a very low rate from all important stations, tributary to Cincinnati and will make special arrangements on reasonable terms for private cars or special schedules.

If you are thinking of attending the Opera, with a party call on the C. H. & D. Ry. agent, and let him make your arrangements.

RETIREES FROM INDIAN WORK.

Miss Howard Abandon Her Labors Among the Redskins.

Miss Grace Howard, daughter of Joe Howard, Jr., the well-known New York journalist, has voluntarily retired from control of the Indian school which she has conducted on the Crow Creek reservation during the past nine years, having disposed of her interest to the government. Miss Howard is the best known of the bright women who throw aside the pleasures of social life for one of isolation on the frontier.

She is very energetic, and with her own means constructed the school, which was named in her honor Grace Howard. It is located 17 miles from Chamberlain, S. D., and 12 miles from Crow Creek Indian agency, on the Crow Creek and Winnebago reservation. The school was started in July, 1887, then it was transformed into a government contract school, and through the able management of Miss Howard has gained the reputation of being one of the most thorough and effective Indian schools in the United States.

Helpful to Morals.

It is well known to naturalists that when the hen has laid an egg she immediately kicks out with one leg, as if to give official validity to the procedure. Basing upon this known custom of the hen, an Illinois inventor has perfected a device by means of which the kick registers its date upon every egg laid, so that they may tell their own story in the market. The instrument is rather complicated, its mechanism acting upon an electric disk, an ink pad and a rubber stamp with an automatic arrangement for the succession of dates, and can be worked by any ordinary hen without imposing any burdensome responsibilities upon her or confusing her with a lot of unnecessary details. The simply kicks—which she would do anyway—and the deed is done. Her production is labeled and certified, and an immense deal of lying about it, as it is done through the channels of commerce, is thus prevented. As an invention it is not equal to the cotton gin, but it is superior to the fifteen puzzle and the Illinois credit.

The following cold weather item is taken from the Atchison (Kan.) Globe: "The story is told on an Atchison girl that her mother recently put a jug of boiling water at the foot of the young lady's bed to keep her feet warm and that in the night the girl's feet got so cold they froze the water solid and bursted the jug."

Excursion to Winona Lake, Wis., Ind.

For the General Assembly Presbyterian Church of the United States at Winona Lake Grounds, Warsaw, Ind., agents of the C. H. & D. Ry. will sell tickets at one fare for the round trip, May 17th, to 25th inclusive, good returning until June 5th.

Miss Susan B. Anthony declared in a recent interview that a law should be passed compelling every husband to give half his earnings to his wife. Miss Anthony evidently thinks that men ought to have as much of their earnings as their wives.

The big hat crusade is bringing order out of chaos. In Brooklyn theaters the ushers now shout: "Hats off!" before the performance begins. The effect is reported as instantaneous, and in consequence the audiences are happy.

Your Representative in Congress.

Will be as much interested in this question as yourself as it bears upon a subject in which the entire people are interested and that is which is the best route to Washington, the Capital of the United States? We claim the distinction for the Buckeye Route, as being best, because in connection with the B. & O. R. R. via Athens, it forms the shortest and most direct line from Northern and Central Ohio points. In connection with the B. & O. R. R., through vestibuled Pullman Sleeping and Drawing room cars of the most approved pattern are run every day in the year, leaving Toledo at 1:55 p. m., reaching Washington next day noon and Baltimore 1:35 p. m. This route takes you via the Historic Potomac, Harpers Ferry and the Blue Ridge Mountains. Solid trains are run from Toledo to Athens, connecting with the Royal Blue Line through to New York via Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia, carrying elegant day coaches and superb vestibuled sleeping cars through without change. Please keep this fact in mind when you have occasion to go east and see that the tickets read via the Buckeye Route and the Royal Blue Line. Agents of the C. H. & D. Ry. will secure you sleeping car berths, check your baggage and see you started right.

Keep these Dates in Your Mind.

Money and Matrimony.

Much nonsensical talk is often indulged in about money and matrimony. A judge, who recently ventured to discourse of the "happy state" without once "mentioning that all-important word money," has provoked an antipodean paper to express the opinion that domestic bliss is insured by the possession of a good banker's account. This unromantic opinion is hardly worth contradicting, and yet one hardly likes to allow young folk to read such assertions without correction. There is something positively appalling in the idea that girls should really believe that nothing but "cash buys comfort," and that mere comfort is invariably synonymous with happiness. And it is not true that rich, well-dressed, well-fed people lead the happiest lives together, as the annals of the divorce court prove. The married couples who do live together most happily are often those who have to struggle along as best they can on inadequate incomes, and are never so idle as to get into mischief or become discontented.

Being asked the other day if she still liked trousers Dr. Mary Walker, the only duly authorized feminine wearer of male apparel in this country, with much emphasis replied: "Like them?" The counter question was rife with meaning. "You poor, benighted women, you who have all your life gone groping about in rainy weather with a skirt flapping about your ankles and hitting the back of your socks—your stockings, excuse me—as you held it up; you who have had the wind blowing a lot of silly lace and silk about your knees; you who have worn feathered and flowered headgear that either tilts over your eyes until you can't see, or sits back and gives you neuralgia in the top of your head—what do you know of the comfort and freedom of masculine habiliments?"

The prevalence of that troublesome malady, the grip, in many parts of the country this winter gives special interest to a new remedy much in vogue in Kentucky and which is declared by its inventor to be a specific. The prescription, as written out by the discoverer, who is an aged colored man, reads thus: "Castrol, turpentine, and hog-hut tea." These simple remedies are readily procured in any family, the "hog-hut tea" being obtained by parching and pulverizing the hoofs of swine, from which the decoction is made. If the hog is born in the dark of the moon and has two heart-shaped spots on its left leg the remedy will be much more potent. The largest liberty as to the dose is left to the patient.

Nine-tenths of the girls who go to our common schools will eventually become wives and housekeepers, remarks a metropolitan journal. They will have to cook and bake and sew and take care of children, but except in rare instances they are taught nothing of these arts or accomplishments. In the country the success in life of most of the boys will depend on their skill in farming, but they are taught nothing about the soil or its capabilities. In the city the boys who will have to make their living by the skill of their hands are not trained in that direction.

A new word which comes from Virginia is "slommluky," which means drowsily, as applied to a woman's costume that has neither style nor fit. Another Virginia word is "pernute," which in our northern slang we should say means "slink." "Bigity"—Georgian—is a corruption of bigoted, and "get shed of it" means literally to get shed of it. "Don't let on" is universal, meaning don't tell. "Ornerly cuss" is generally understood to mean a disreputable sort of chap.

A noted newspaper man who died in St. Louis a few weeks ago, in the prime of life, was sometimes called the inventor of the newspaper interview. Certainly he was the first to make a feature of that form of news. Rightly used, the interview is an effective way of getting, and an interesting way of presenting, facts and opinions; but no other device of journalism has been more abused.

Official reports say that the United States sent 103,000,000 pounds of ham to Great Britain last year. Something over 300,000,000 pounds of American bacon took the same reference, and as for our lard Great Britain received 40 percent of the total exports, which amounted to 200,000,000 pounds. These are good things that this country can afford to "push along."

The people living at Peak's Island, Me., are so healthy that the physician who attempted to make a living by remaining there failed, and the islanders, sick and well alike, contribute a certain amount yearly, outside that paid for services, to keep him there. Happy Peak's Island! and happy, happy doctor!

Having read the list of names on the roll of Chicago's 300, observes the Journal of that city, with sorrow, the children of some of our very best people will not hereafter be permitted to meet their own parents socially.
